Piggus—I'm glad it is good form not to wear a watch with a dress suit. Dismukes—Why?

Piggus—Because I never have both at the same time.—American Spectator.

Major Blubud—Well, sah, and what are your habits, sah?

Daughter's Lover—Well, Major, I gamble occasionally, play the races and drink whisky.

Major Blubud—M-m-m! And have you any bad habits, sah?

Senator Clay of Georgia was once showing a constituent the sights of the national capital, when the Washington monument was reached.

"What do you think of it?" carelessly asked the senator, as the constituent stood gazing in awe at the stately shaft.

"Senator," responded the Georgian, gravely, "that's the damndest, highest one-story building I've ever seen!"

—American Spectator.

Scarbrough—Insurance.

"Women certainly do run to extremes in their eating."

"For instance?"

"Well, yonder is a girl eating angel cake with deviled ham."

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"They say Napoleon could go to sleep at will—just stopped thinking and fell asleep."

"I doubt that. I've seen lots of people who had stopped thinking and most of them were awake."

—Brooklyn Life.

"That fellow is always talking learnedly about bank clearings. Does he know anything about such matters?"

"He ought to. He sweeps out every day."

First Sweet Thing—The Snobines claim to be connected with some of the best families in town.

Second Sweet Thing—Yes; I understand they've just put in a telephone.

GARNETT & AYRES.

A village doctor whose most trouble some patient was an elderly woman practically on the free list, received a sound rating from her one day for not coming when summoned the night before.

"You can go see your other patients at night," said she, "why can't you come when I send for you? Ain't my money as good as other people's?"

"I don't know, madam," was the reply, "I never saw any of it."

—June Lippincott's.

"If all the people responsible for passing worthless bills wuz t' be sent to jail," says Farmer Silas Hornhand, "they'd be a heap sight more legislators than counterfeiters ketched."

—Chicago News.

First Tramp—De t'ory is dere's jes' so much work to be done in the world an' jes' so many people to do it.

Second Tramp—Dat's right, an' if some folks wants to hustle an' do more dan dere share let 'em go ahead an' do it.—Brooklyn Life.
